RECORD OF AMICABLE RESOLUTION FOR THE

THE PRACTICAL IMPLEMENTATION OF AMICABLE
SETTLEMENTS, ADOPTED 18 NOVEMBER 2021

Dated the 16th day of September 2022

Data Protection Commission
21 Fitzwilliam Square South
Dublin 2, Ireland

Background

1. On 1 December 2021, [REDACTED] ("the Data Subject") lodged a complaint pursuant to Article 77 GDPR with the Data Protection Commission ("the DPC") concerning [REDACTED] ("the Respondent").
2. The DPC was deemed to be the competent authority for the purpose of Article 56(1) GDPR.

The Complaint

3. The details of the complaint were as follows:
 - a. The Data Subject contacted the Respondent on 1 December 2020 requesting the deletion of his [REDACTED] account, which he stated had been hacked.
 - b. The Data Subject stated that he engaged with the Respondent's support team on a number of occasions in order to obtain deletion of the account. According to the Data Subject the Respondent provided him with links to automated tools that could be used for the purposes of restoring hacked accounts. The Data Subject was unable to avail of these tools as he had no access to the account.
 - c. As the Data Subject was not satisfied with the response received from the Respondent regarding the concerns raised, the Data Subject made a complaint to the DPC.

Action taken by the DPC

4. The DPC, pursuant to Section 109(4) of the Data Protection Act, 2018 ("the 2018 Act"), is required, as a preliminary matter, to assess the likelihood of the parties to the complaint reaching, within a reasonable time, an amicable resolution of the subject-matter of the complaint. Where the DPC considers that there is a reasonable likelihood of such an amicable resolution being concluded between the parties, it is empowered, by Section 109(2) of the 2018 Act, to take such steps as it considers appropriate to arrange or facilitate such an amicable resolution.
5. Following a preliminary examination of the material referred to it by the Recipient SA, the DPC considered that there was a reasonable likelihood of the parties concerned reaching, within a reasonable time, an amicable resolution of the subject matter of the complaint. The DPC's experience is that complaints of this nature are particularly suitable for amicable resolution in circumstances where there is an obvious solution to the dispute, if the respondent is willing to engage in the process. In this regard, the DPC had regard to:
 - a. The relationship between the Data Subject and Respondent (being, in this case, an individual service user and a service provider); and
 - b. The nature of the complaint (in this case, an unsuccessful attempt by the Data Subject to exercise their data subject rights).

6. While not relevant to the assessment that the DPC is required to carry out pursuant to Section 109(4) of the 2018 Act, the DPC also had regard to Internal EDPB Document 06/2021 on the practical implementation of amicable settlements, adopted on 18 November 2021 (“Document 06/2021”), and considered that:
 - a. the possible conclusion of the complaint by way of amicable resolution would not hamper the ability of the supervisory authorities to maintain the high level of protection that the GDPR seeks to create; and that
 - b. such a conclusion, in this case, would likely carry advantages for the Data Subject, whose rights under the GDPR would be vindicated swiftly, as well as for the controller, who would be provided the opportunity to bring its behaviour into compliance with the GDPR.

Amicable Resolution

7. The DPC engaged with both the Data Subject and Respondent in relation to the subject matter of the complaint. Further to that engagement, the Respondent requested that the Data Subject provide it with a new secure email address, which its support team could correspond with for the purposes of assisting the Data Subject in regaining access to his account. The Respondent explained that, once the Data Subject had regained access to his account in this manner, he could then make use of certain self-serve tools in order to schedule the permanent deletion of his account.
8. The Data Subject provided the DPC with a new secure email address as requested by the Respondent. The DPC communicated this email address to the Respondent on 28 April 2022.
9. On 5 May 2022, the Data Subject wrote to the DPC to confirm that he was successful in obtaining access to his account and thanked the DPC for its assistance. The DPC replied on 6 May 2022 thanking the Data Subject for confirming the foregoing, and reminded him of the process to be followed in order to delete his account, as advised previously by the Respondent. The DPC further informed the Data Subject that it was now of the view that an amicable resolution to the complaint had been reached.
10. In circumstances where the subject-matter of the complaint has been amicably resolved, in full, the complaint, by virtue of Section 109(3) of the 2018 Act, is deemed to have been withdrawn by the Data Subject.

Confirmation of Outcome

11. For the purpose of Document 06/2021, the DPC confirms that:
 - a. The complaint, in its entirety, has been amicably resolved between the parties concerned;
 - b. The agreed resolution is such that the object of the complaint no longer exists; and

- c. Having consulted with the supervisory authorities concerned on the information set out above, as required by Document 06/2021 the DPC has now closed off its file in this matter.

12. If dissatisfied with the outcome recorded herein, the parties have the right to an effective remedy by way of an application for judicial review, by the Irish High Court, of the process applied by the DPC in the context of the within complaint.

Signed for and on behalf of the DPC:

Deputy Commissioner
Data Protection Commission.
