THE PRACTICAL IMPLEMENTATION OF AMICABLE
SETTLEMENTS, ADOPTED 18 NOVEMBER 2021

Data Protection Commission
21 Fitzwilliam Square South
Dublin 2, Ireland

Background

1. On 31 December 2019, [REDACTED] (“the Data Subject”) lodged a complaint pursuant to Article 77 GDPR with the Agencia Española de Protección de Datos (“the Recipient SA”) concerning [REDACTED] (“the Respondent”).
2. In circumstances where the Data Protection Commission (“the DPC”) was deemed to be the competent authority for the purpose of Article 56(1) GDPR, the Recipient SA transferred the complaint to the DPC on 8 July 2020.

The Complaint

3. The details of the complaint were as follows:
 - a. The Data Subject emailed the Respondent on 27 November 2019, seeking the erasure of certain personal data from the Respondent’s platform
 - b. On 12 December 2019, the Respondent refused the Data Subject’s request to the right of erasure. The Respondent refused the initial request, deeming that the data in question was not posted in violation of their private information policies, and therefore would not be erased.

Action taken by the DPC

4. The DPC, pursuant to Section 109(4) of the Data Protection Act, 2018 (“the 2018 Act”), is required, as a preliminary matter, to assess the likelihood of the parties to the complaint reaching, within a reasonable time, an amicable resolution of the subject-matter of the complaint. Where the DPC considers that there is a reasonable likelihood of such an amicable resolution being concluded between the parties, it is empowered, by Section 109(2) of the 2018 Act, to take such steps as it considers appropriate to arrange or facilitate such an amicable resolution.
5. Following a preliminary examination of the material referred to it by the Recipient SA, the DPC considered that there was a reasonable likelihood of the parties concerned reaching, within a reasonable time, an amicable resolution of the subject matter of the complaint. The DPC’s experience is that complaints of this nature are particularly suitable for amicable resolution in circumstances where there is an obvious solution to the dispute, if the respondent is willing to engage in the process. In this regard, the DPC had regard to:
 - a. The relationship between the Data Subject and Respondent (being, in this case, an individual consumer and a service provider); and
 - b. The nature of the complaint (in this case, an unsuccessful attempt by the Data Subject to exercise his/her data subject rights).

6. While not relevant to the assessment that the DPC is required to carry out pursuant to Section 109(4) of the 2018 Act, the DPC also had regard to Internal EDPB Document 06/2021 on the practical implementation of amicable settlements, adopted on 18 November 2021 (“Document 06/2021”), and considered that:
 - a. the possible conclusion of the complaint by way of amicable resolution would not hamper the ability of the supervisory authorities to maintain the high level of protection that the GDPR seeks to create; and that
 - b. such a conclusion, in this case, would likely carry advantages for the Data Subject, whose rights under the GDPR would be vindicated swiftly, as well as for the controller, who would be provided the opportunity to bring its behaviour into compliance with the GDPR.

Amicable Resolution

7. The DPC engaged with both the Data Subject (via the Recipient SA) and Respondent in relation to the subject matter of the complaint. Further to that engagement, it was established that, following a review of the Data Subject’s complaint, the Respondent deemed that the personal data was of public interest, was not posted in violation of their policies on the platform, and therefore the request for erasure had been refused. The Respondent agreed to take the following action:
 - a. The Respondent agreed to allow the DPC to provide the complainant with a copy of their detailed response, including reference to the existence of their Terms of Service, Privacy Policy and Rules in the hope that their explanations may help to resolve the matter.
8. Following a number of further engagements with both the Respondent and the Data Subject, the Respondent conducted a further review of the complaint and personal data in question, and, on 17 September 2021, the Respondent confirmed to the DPC that the personal data would be erased.
9. The DPC forwarded this information to the Recipient SA, for onward submission to the Data Subject, on 28 September 2021. When doing so, the DPC noted that, as the Respondent had now erased the requested personal data, the dispute between the Data Subject and Respondent appeared to have been resolved. In the circumstances, the DPC asked the Data Subject to notify it, within two months, if he was not satisfied with the outcome, so that the DPC could take further action. The DPC did not receive any further communication from the Data Subject and, accordingly, the complaint has been deemed to have been amicably resolved.
10. In circumstances where the subject matter of the complaint has been amicably resolved, in full, the complaint, by virtue of Section 109(3) of the 2018 Act, is deemed to have been withdrawn by the Data Subject.

Confirmation of Outcome

11. For the purpose of Document 06/2021, the DPC confirms that:

- a. The complaint, in its entirety, has been amicably resolved between the parties concerned;
- b. The agreed resolution is such that the object of the complaint no longer exists; and
- c. Having consulted with the supervisory authorities concerned on the information set out above, as required by Document 06/2021, the DPC has now closed off its file in this matter.

12. If dissatisfied with the outcome recorded herein, the parties have the right to an effective remedy by way of an application for judicial review, by the Irish High Court, of the process applied by the DPC in the context of the within complaint.
